STRATHMORE POTATOES LIMITED

Formed in 2005 and based in Forfar in the heart of arguably some of the best agricultural land in Scotland, we have progressed into a successful and competitive potato business.

With over 25 years experience in the industry we have the knowledge and ability to fulfil our existing and potential customers' stringent requirements.

Minituber production is an important part of our business. We have purpose built poly tunnels on site with a production capacity of c150,000 mini-tubers annually.

We produce new varieties and can reintroduce inactive varieties. Our customers range from multinational companies to individual growers.

We have our own breeding programme and are marketing agents for Harlequin and Claret, two excellent tasting varieties bred by the world renowned James Hutton Institute.

We have a dedicated supplier group growing our Pre basic through to SE grade seed and we QC all our potatoes on site.

Cyprus, Egypt, Europe and North Africa are some of our export destinations, however we are always looking for new relationships worldwide.

Our commitment to customer care and customer satisfaction are paramount to us and are attributes we feel are strong within our business.

Being a successful privately owned company we are well positioned to be proactive for the challenges that lie ahead within our industry.
